It was a good week for wool, as the EMI finished up in both Australian and US currencies, with the EMI in US currency back to its levels of prior to Christmas.

This has occurred while the prices for other commodities have fallen; particularly energy commodities and share markets have experienced significant falls. This is an unusual outcome for wool in these circumstances, as its price has been very sensitive to falls in global economic conditions and confidence in the past.

Tuesday's sale was of Tasmanian wools only. The prices paid in these sales include an allowance for the cost of moving the wool to Melbourne for transhipment to its final destination. The AWEX Price Guides (MPGs) were all up in Australian currency, but this was associated with a fall in the US exchange rate.

The market picked up in both currencies on Wednesday; and finished strongly on Thursday, when the EMI was up by 12¢ in US and by 11¢ in Australian currencies. There were increases in all average AWEX MPGs other than the coarse crossbreds and the Merino Cardings Price Guide. The greatest increases were among the medium and broader Merino wools.

The US exchange rate finished 0.81ϕ (-1.1%) lower to close at 70.90ϕ on Thursday.

Buyers for China were dominant, with support from buyers for Europe, India and Korea. Buyers for Italy were very strong in the sale of Tasmanian wool on Tuesday.
